M'FARLAND LOST BUT FOUND AGAIN

Chicago, December 25.—Packer McFarland, night-riding pugilist, was "lost" for a few hours to-day, but to-night appeared at some of his old haunts and relieved the tans of his friends.

McFarland was scheduled to fight Freddie Daniels in Omaha last night. He stayed to the train, but missed it. He did not notify the promoters of the bout, his manager, and his family that he had not left Chicago, and until to-night there was some speculation as to his whereabouts.

An effort will be made by those interested in forming the Richmond Athletic Association to hold a fall meet, in connection with the 1913 State Fair. It certainly would be a great drawing card to see from two to three hundred trained boys and men in action on the track in front of the grandstand. The question about the event is popular with the people who attend the fair.

Application blanks are reaching Division Headquarters at this time. (Continued on Third Page.)

New Year's Golf Tournament.
A New Year's golf tournament will be held at the Oronary Club of Virginia. It will be medal play over eighteen holes. The players will be divided into two classes, and a prize will be given in each class. Class A will contain all players with handicaps of fourteen and under, while class B will be composed of all players with handicaps of fifteen and over.

For the week of January 12-18, the annual winter meeting of the advertising golfers is scheduled, followed by the sixth annual midwinter trap shooting handicap, January 22-25, and the third annual midwinter ten-ball championship, January 27-February 1.

"The game is very lively, being full of constant kicking, running, catching and passing. It develops strength, speed, accuracy, skill, and with less liability to accidents even than is baseball on account of the freedom from the chance of being injured by a pitched or batted ball."

It is confidently expected that the new administration will pass at least one of these bills. One of the leaders in the movement is Barratt O'Hara, Lieutenant-Governor-elect. He himself is a devotee of boxing, which he practices as a means of exercise.
